

SPAN121L : Spanish Language and Society

The study of the Spanish language through the investigation of major currents of change in modern Spanish-speaking societies. Topics include, but not limited to, political climate, environment, immigration, health, social justice, gender issues, technology, the arts education etc. This class will provide knowledge and skills that are increasingly essential in global society. Students will begin to develop Spanish language proficiency in interpersonal, interpretative, and presentational modes of communication through individual and group work and topical discussions using authentic and studio-based multi-media materials.

Credits 3

Lab Hours 0

Class Hours 3