

SOSC231L : Microeconomics

This course introduces the economic concepts that are studied in microeconomics. Students gain an understanding of how consumer and producer decision making forms the basis of supply and demand and how the price system operates within a market economy to allocate scarce resources among unlimited wants.

Credits 3

Lab Hours 0

Class Hours 3