CIS210L : Operating Systems

Students in this course will look at various operating systems and their role in an organization. Concepts will be covered regarding installation, configuration, most used features, troubleshooting methods and where to go for help when issues arise. Students will also gain a key understanding of why each operating system may be used and best practices.
Credits 3
Lab Hours 2
Class Hours 2